SHIPPING NEWS.

Back Atlanta left Victoria June 17th and passed Cape Flattery on the 19th. From there had a succession of light winds and calm the entire passage, with the exception of two days moderate trade after reaching lat 30 north. June 20th, in lat 30 north, long 135 west, again. From back to front, 14 days from Victoria for San Francisco, was short of water and fuel, but a sufficient supply to last her in. Had no regular trade until reaching the vicinity of the islands, and in latitudes where the trade is usually the strongest, met with light baffling, which was not until the islands were two days previous to arrival and was off this point the night of the 12th.

Clippers ship Terrible left Honolulu March 4th, and from thence to the Islands (at the entrance of the English Channel) on the 10th, and 72 days to Cape Horn. Experienced a succession of heavy westerly gales of the Cape, which lasted four weeks. Had passed Cape Horn, and with fresh NE and SE trade, making a fine run of 56 days from the Cape to this port. Arrived in ballast and anchored outside, bound to Baker's Island.

Brig Francis left San Francisco May 10th, bound to the Oahu on a fishing voyage, and had moderate winds and weather until the 10th of June. On the 14th, experienced a severe gale from NW, with frequent heavy showers, and much rain, during which carried away the iron boiler and gunnery landing. On the 15th, found that the iron boiler was loose and working badly, because the studs and waterways. Found it necessary to stop up the gunnery landing to the sea, and on the 16th of July, in lat 21 25 north, long 160 40 west, altered the course for Honolulu, after which time had moderate weather until arrival.

Back Queen Emma left San Francisco on the morning of June 20th, with fresh breeze from NW first 24 hours, after which light until reaching the islands. Two days after getting the trade had calm four days, but making thirty miles a day; lack the trade again, and had calm light and will to the eastward until sighting the islands. Five days out from port was passed by a large ship, and six days previous to arrival saw a steamer steering to the northwest. Off West Maui at eight o'clock on the morning of the 13th and had a fresh breeze, arriving the same evening.

The Comet was 21 days out from here and had not arrived when the Queen Emma sailed. She was out 24 days out, with every prospect of having a longer trip than usual.
The steamer Na Moku arrived on Thursday afternoon last in command of Capt. C. C. Smith, who resumes his former position in the coasting business after a residence abroad of over a year. The traveling public, who have known the Na Moku in an old form, especially on the Maui route, will doubtless be gratified to know of his appointment. The Na Moku is one of the most comfortable and popular vessels in the coasting trade, both on account of her superior sailing qualities and the fine accommodations which she affords to passengers. Her new commander there is but little danger that her former reputation will suffer. Capt. Weatherhead having been under the weather for some time past, has been compelled to resign on account of increasing ill health.

RENNO & CLINT'S PANORAMA.—The above Panorama was exhibited at Buffum's Hall, on Saturday evening last. There was an unusually large attendance on this occasion—but this is not to be wondered at, considering the attraction offered—the exhibition of the Panorama of the Franco-Prussian War and Colonial Scenery, and the distribution of gifts. We have already spoken of the artistic merits of the painting of the various scenes of this entertainment. At the conclusion of the Panorama, Mr. Buckleton, the lecturer, called upon Mr. Wallace to conduct the distribution of the gifts, and he was kindly assisted by two gentlemen and a child from the audience. The latter being blindfolded, drew the various numbers which entitled the holders of the duplicates to the gifts. The audience seemed highly pleased with the style in which the distribution was conducted. Among the prizes given away was a $25 silver watch, an opera glass, a Derringer pistol, and many other valuable articles. At the conclusion of the distribution, Mr. Buckleton announced that a similar distribution would take place on Wednesday (this evening) for the benefit of Mr. Alfred Clint (theatrical). He said their company had been put to considerable expense by their visit to Honolulu, and they had not been with the patronage they expected. He hoped the inhabitants would respond to their call for Wednesday evening, the last night of the Panorama in Honolulu, as they positively sail for Australia by the Wonga Wonga on Friday next. We have seen some of the gifts to be distributed this evening, and can safely say they are really good articles. For particulars see advertisement in another column.

THANKS.—Our thanks are due Capt. D. Smith, of the bark Queen Emma, for files of late San Francisco papers, and for full memoranda of trips from San Francisco.

BASE BALL.—A match game was played on Saturday afternoon at Kakaia (nearly of the prison) between the "Mechanics" and "Whangoducks," in which the latter came out ahead and took the prize, which was a bat valued at fifteen dollars.

EARTHQUAKE.—A slight shock of earthquake was felt on Monday morning at about four o'clock. The shock was so slight that but few persons, except those who were awake at the time, knew of it.

FOR THE GILFORD ISLANDS.—The schooner C. M. Ward sailed Monday afternoon for the Gilford Islands, taking thirty laborers down to supply the places of those recently returned from there. Col. F. S. Pratt visits the Islands in the Ward on business connected with the Gilford Company, and will return in the same vessel.

MR. CLINT has just completed a very truthful sketch of Honolulu, as seen from the "Summer House" on the reef at the lowest side of the harbor. The sketch is in possession of Mr. Theo. G. Thurn, who intends to have it photographed. It will, we understand, be on exhibition at his New Depot on Thursday.

By notice in another column it will be seen that the next term of the Oahu College will commence on Wednesday, September 6th. The extensive and careful preparations made by the managers for the comfort and convenience of the pupils, together with the ability and earnestness of the corps of teachers, give promise of a peculiarly prosperous and useful career for the above institution during the coming year.

The reply of the Hon. Peter Cooper, to an address from the students of the institution, founded and endowed by him in the city of New York, found in this issue. Noble words of wisdom, nobly spoken, worthy of a lodgment in every heart, read them, they will pay the pupils. The worthy tribute he pays to his wife, his companion, his help-mate from youth to old age, is especially touching. We copy from the N. Y. Evangelist, of June 15.

A MARBLE slab, set in granite, has been erected in the North Church Cemetery lot, New Haven, by his friends, to the memory of the late Rev. Hiram Bingham, missionary, with the following inscription: "Hiram Bingham, 1789-1869. He and his associate, Asa Thurston, were the first preachers of the gospel to the heathen of the Hawaiian Islands. They heard and obeyed Christ's word: 'Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel.' Whose life followed."—N. Y. Evangelist.

The steamers according to time-table are expected to arrive as follows: The Wonga Wonga from San Francisco to-morrow, and the City of Melbourne from Sydney on Friday. Both vessels will take their departure within thirty-six hours after arrival. The arrival of the steamers of both lines will not be so close together this month, as there will be fully a week's difference between them. The Nevada from Auckland is due on the 28th, and the Moses Taylor from San Francisco to connect with her on the 29th last.

The first trip of the bark Queen Emma has been a unusually long one. She left here on the 10th of May and returned on Monday afternoon, after an absence of sixty-two days. The passage over was a successful one. The vessel recently, however, had an opportunity of making anything like a good day's run during the passage. She also met with light winds in returning, with the exception of the first twenty-four hours after leaving San Francisco, when she made twenty miles, which is the best days run that she has made. The voyage throughout has been an unfavorable one for ascertaining her sailing qualities.

RUNAWAY.—Two respectable runaways occurred last week which helped to make things lively on the street for a short time. On Friday, a horse and wagon which had been left standing on Merchant street, started off, evidently with the intention of executing a second jump, but failed to do so, and, after sufficient energy, being captured and brought back before proceeding a very great distance. On Saturday afternoon, a horse attached to a buggy started from the upper part of Fort street at quite a respectable pace, but the reins having been made fast to the buggy, the animal was easily stopped by a gentleman meeting it, who took charge of the runaway and drove back, returning it to the owner, who had started out in search of it.

GOOD TIME FOR HAWAIIAN STORIES.—Mr. Jas. S. Lemon has a young horse of native stock that has one of the best of the Hawaiian breed. He was born on the island of Oahu, and was brought to the mainland by the bridge at the old Mahiki School premises, on the upper road, to the corner of Breckinridge and Nuuu Streets, inside of six minutes, and has done it with ease, trotting the entire distance, which is said to be about two miles. Considering the condition of the road, which is anything but a good one, it would give Hawaiian stock credit of which few would be so proud. On a good road, the horse would be able to make a fine trotting. Mr. F. A. Oudinet, who died recently at Lahaina, though a humble man, has been well known among us by his peculiarities, which have afforded considerable amusement; and likewise for the amiability of his character and the trouble he would take to accommodate others. He came here in the Gamecock in 1854, at the same time that Mr. O'Meara, editor of the Oregon Bulletin, came to this country. It will be remembered that this country was in an old form, especially on the Maui route, will doubtless be gratified to know of his appointment. The Na Moku is one of the most comfortable and popular vessels in the coasting trade, both on account of her superior sailing qualities and the fine accommodations which she affords to passengers. Her new commander there is but little danger that her former reputation will suffer. Capt. Weatherhead having been under the weather for some time past, has been compelled to resign on account of increasing ill health.

Late Foreign News.

The arrival of the Haw. bark Queen Emma, Hempstead, from San Francisco on Monday, was in receipt of five days later dates than those previously received. One of the San Francisco dates for the Queen Emma of the 28th, with European and Eastern telegrams to the 27th ult. The general news is unimportant. Affairs in Paris seem to be quiet with every prospect that the elections which were taking place, would pass off quietly. We give below principal telegrams.

PARIS, June 22d.—Prince Napoleon has declined the nomination to the Presidency from the Department of Commerce, and has accepted of the Ministry of Agriculture. A letter from Gambetta, on the state of France, is published. It contains the maintenance of Thiers in power, approves his policy, and desires a speedy solution of the monarchical question.

Fifteen thousand men have been sent to Fontainebleau, where there are two Courts-martial. Versailles, June 23d.—In the Assembly, to-day, the Minister of the Interior, in answer to a question as to the steps of Paris, stated that the Government would allow the citizens every liberty at the coming elections not inconsistent with public safety. The public election of insurrectionary districts, and insurrectionary districts, were permitted.

La Liberte reports a violent quarrel yesterday on the Boulevard between the promenade and a party of Prussian officers, and in consequence Marshal McMahon requested the Prussian commander to prevent his officers from entering the city.

LONDON, June 23d.—In the House of Commons to-day, two fratricidal fights were made on the royal privileges; one was a proposition to build a new-needed public road, and the other was a proposition to the side of Buckingham Palace; the other was a proposition to let the unoccupied places, such as St. James and Hampton Court, and apply the proceeds to the reduction of the public debt. Both were rejected.

Gladiators and the Wagon makers were consultations in their efforts to the Crown and their antagonism to the measures proposed.

It is rumored that Prince Arthur will be made Duke of Clarence, and that the Government intends, before the prorogation of Parliament, to produce a bill for the purchase of a royal seat in Ireland.

PARIS, June 24th.—The Court of Cassation will hear to-day the trial of Rochefort, Assolant, and Court in its consequences of the elections. Albert Joly defends Rochefort.

Forty-seven ships of the French navy have been disarmed, and 12,000 sailors dismissed from the service.

MADRID, June 24th.—The King has summoned the Presidents of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies to the constitutional session on the 29th of the present time, refused to accept the resignation of the Ministers.

WASHINGTON, June 24th.—There is considerable interest felt in official circles concerning the opening views of Secretary Boutwell and Commissioner Pleasanton on points connected with the administration of the Internal Revenue Office, particularly concerning a certain decision made by the Commissioner, who claims that his decisions are not subject to revision or approval by the Secretary. The matter will probably be brought to the attention of the President and Cabinet for consideration.

commencement of quarrels should be settled, leaving behind only friendship, peace and good will.
New York, June 25th.—Four members of the Methodist Book Committee voted against the deposition of Rev. Mr. Latham from the assistant agency; they were, Reverends Mr. Pike, Mr. Mahly, Mr. Vernon and Mr. Slicer, the latter of whom delivered an earnest argument against the proposed action—deposing that it was either just or expedient. The three charges were voted on separately. The first, accusing Latham of appealing to the Civil Courts being admitted, was sustained unanimously, and each of the others by the vote of 11 to 4.

PARIS, June 26th.—The Figaro says: The Orleans Princes will proceed to Froberg, where they will await the decision of the country in all cases.

The Conditioned urges the electors to ratify the policy of Thiers without conditions or amendment.

LONDON, June 26th.—The ship Arctica, from Leith, for San Francisco, is at the Rides. The crew are sick.

One thousand workmen are turned out of employment by the burning of the Manchester cotton mills, New York, June 27th.—The Prussian army corps system adopted by France. It is said there will be a review on Thursday.

There are great efforts in Belgium to obtain subscriptions to the French loan.

LONDON, June 27th.—The Fenian Burke was released on condition of reporting yearly to the magistrates.

The Pope, replying to the French Catholics, praised their zeal and denounced liberal Catholicism.

The Pittston Disaster.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 28.—All the men in the thirty-eight, number—have been brought up; eighteen were dead. At last past 12 last night, the workmen succeeded in penetrating to the bottom of the shaft, and brought news to the surface. At 12:45, they sent up word that the men had barricaded themselves in, and the cage was sent up for more men and tools. This morning the majority of the shaft is greater than ever.

Up to 5 o'clock twenty-four men had been brought up to the top, of which number six were dead, and twelve were brought out. One or two have so far recovered as to be able to give an account of the disaster. The exploring parties were compelled to proceed with the utmost caution, and were frequently brought out asphyxiated with the foul gases.

At 10 A. M. twenty men had been brought out, ten of whom were dead, and at 12 M. more than one hundred were brought up for the last two hours was found stone dead.

The excitement is almost indescribable; thousands of people are crowded around the mouth of the pit, and in their eagerness to see and hear, are with difficulty kept outside of the rope which is stretched around the shaft.

At the time of ignition of the upper part of the shaft yesterday, the gangs of miners were being changed, and many were standing around, and a few others, relieved by their companions, were coming out. The alarm being given to engineer M'Donald, he at once communicated the warning of danger to the bottom of the mine, and began to hoist the car, bringing with the first four trips several men; in three succeeding trips no arrivals were reported, and while the eighth trip was being made, the rope slipped off the pulley, and all further means of escape was made impossible.

At once a young lad at the bottom of the shaft, 250 feet down, saw a nervous twitching of the bell-rope, which he believed to respond to, and suspicious of a disastrous accident, immediately ran up the east gangway.

An iron and a quarter the breaker had burned to the ground, but men of all vocations in life began removing the half-consumed timbers that obstructed the passage of the shaft. The shaft was not far from a small well being available, it was drawn in wagons and barrels from the river, a mile distant.

Telegrams were sent to the Secretary and Whitehouse fire departments for assistance. The Secretary "Nayang" steamer arrived at a quarter past three o'clock and at about the same time there came a company from Wilkesbarre, and steamer followed soon after.

By five o'clock, the water had cooled the iron and wood part of the shaft, and preparations were made to clear the mine. In the meantime hundreds of women and children had congregated near the scene of the disaster, and their loud wailing cries pierced the air.

At 5:40 P. M., the mouth of the mine had been sufficiently cleared to permit the descent of the shaft. At once a young lad at the bottom of the shaft, 250 feet down, saw a nervous twitching of the bell-rope, which he believed to respond to, and suspicious of a disastrous accident, immediately ran up the east gangway.
